RISK MANAGEMENT

Managing and mitigating risk is essential for a commodities trader and ensures long-term success. At Tigonic, we take risk management very seriously, and this doesn't just stop at market risk or trading exposures. We also consider counter-party, country, and performance risks.

Our framework combines policies with internal checks and balances to manage a broad range of risks, including market, liquidity, credit, country, exchange rate, pricing, operational, environmental, freight, compliance, and regulatory risks.

Various departments are involved on a daily basis in addressing these matters, including Market Risk Management, Controlling, Tax, Finance, Credit, Compliance, and Internal Audit. Within this framework, a range of risk management tools and policies are applied to minimize overall risk exposure. Managing and mitigating risk is essential for a commodities trader and ensures long-term success. COMPLIANCE

Tigonic Petroleum operates at the intersection of high-growth energy markets and stringent global oversight. Our Compliance Department is not merely a gatekeeper but a strategic partner tasked with insulating the company's reputation and financial health across diverse geographical regions. We maintain a comprehensive compliance architecture that aligns our physical trading activities with international financial, political, and environmental mandates, ensuring that every transaction we facilitate—whether locally or across borders—is legally sound and ethically grounded.

Our protective barrier starts with a Dynamic Counterparty Onboarding protocol. Unlike static checks, our "Know Your Customer" (KYC) framework involves deep-dive forensic vetting of a partner's financial standing, operational licenses, and ultimate beneficial ownership (UBO). We strictly enforce a zero-tolerance policy regarding OFAC and international sanctions. By verifying that every counterparty is fully authorized to enter the energy market, we ensure that Tigonic remains a clean link in the global supply chain, shielding our partners from the risks of illicit trade or regulatory violations.

The integrity of our network is maintained through continuous vigilance rather than one-time approvals. We are proud to be a registered and trusted counterparty for major National Oil Companies (NOCs), first-class European banking institutions, and global retail leaders. To uphold this elite status, we perform Annual Reciprocal KYC Refreshes, proactively updating the documentation and risk profiles of all our global partners. This commitment to persistent oversight guarantees that Tigonic Petroleum remains synonymous with transparency and compliance in the evolving global energy landscape.
